In 1 John 1:5-10, he sets before us the vision of God as being absolute light, a light far greater and purer than that golden sun above. And in so doing he wants his readers (you and me) to experience and recognize the blackness that is all around us and within us, the blackness of sin, this great darkness that is only exposed, can only be seen, once we have gazed intently upon the perfect light of God.

1. To have fellowship with God, we must recognize that He is absolutely holy (1:5). John writes (1:5), “This is the message we have heard from Him and announce to you, that God is Light, and in Him there is no darkness at all.” Note two things: A. To have fellowship with God, we must begin with God and His authoritative revelation of Himself.
